His eloquence was of no avail, and as the 2d squadr n of the 9th increased could follow. Not so, however, and as he wheeled his orse back again, our men were upon him, and he fell shot in e head; his men gave a feeble volley with pistols, and and pickets in great number, and overtaking wearied horsenen, it was ascertained that the force engaged were squadons of the 5th U. S. regulars, who had seen hard service in our advance up the road, and as their pickets were stronger and more numerous than usual, it was deemed advisable to halt. The second squadron of the 9th were dismounted and thrown to the front, (on the skirts) of a wood, to the right and left of the road.) to act as skirmishers and defend the artillery, which was moved up and took position commanding a bridge in the holow-the enemy's force and ours being screened from lew by rising ground at either end of the road-our force being farther from the front than theirs. Appearing in considerable force, the enemy advanced in admirable order, but suddenly facing to the right about were quickly retreating, when the dismounted men poured a galling volley into them, emptying many saddles and causing much confusion. Reforming, they were a second time reinforced and came on to the charge up the rise in gallant style. Burning to distinguish themselves the third equadron of the 9th, (composed of the · Essex Light Dragoons," Captane Latane, and "Mercar County Cavalry," Lieut. Walker commanding.) under command of Captain Latane, had received orders to charge the advancing enemy, and putting spurs to their steeds dashed gallantly along the road, the brave Latan filteen paces in front! " Cut and thrust," shouted the Federal commander. "On to them, boys," velled Latane, and the meeting squadrons dashed in full swock together. The front men of either column were unborsed, and the fight became instantly hot and bloody. Captain Latane singled out the Federal Commander, and cut off the officer's hat close to his head, but the Federal dodging the cut, rode past, and as he did so, discharged two revolver loads at Latane, killing him instantly !-The enemy rapidly giving way, our men shouted in triumph, and cut right and left, pistoling the foe with trightful accuracy and havoc, and seeing the Federal Commander in pursuit of Adjutant Robins, (who was himself in pursuit of an enemy,) a private dashed after him and clove his skull in twain! Upon approaching the railroad, cars were heard advanging and the whistle sounded! By orders every man was instantly dismounted, and ranged beside the track. Again the whistle blew, and thinking the force to be a friendly one, perhaps, the steam was stopped, when the Caroline Troop opening fire disclosed the ruse; and, putting on steam again, on sped the train towards the Chickahominy, and despite heavy logs placed on the track made good its escape, but the carriages being but uncovered freight trucks, and having soldiers on them, the slaughter that ensued was frightful.
